THE No. 338.

MARYLAND GAZETTE,

Containing the freſheſt Advices, Foreign and Domeſtic.

WEDNESDAY, October 16, 1751.

PETERSBURG, May 29.

AS it is well known that the Affairs of the North have of late been the chief Matters under Conſideration at the Porte, our Miniſtry are drawing up a kind of Memorial, which is to be diſpatched in a few Days to Conſtantinople, in order to acquaint the Turkiſh Court, with the preſent Diſpoſitions of the Empreſs, and to make them ſenſible that her Imperial Majeſty is ſincerely inclined to maintain Peace with Sweden on the Footing of antient Treaties, and the ſolemn Declaration made by the new King, at his Acceſſion to the Throne. Baron Penckler, to whom this Memorial is to be ſent, will be deſired to make the Ottoman Miniſtry obſerve, when he preſents it to them, how uniform the Empreſs's Conduct has been, with reſpect to the Affairs of the North, and how groſsly ſome People have deceived themſelves, in ſuppoſing that her Imperial Majeſty's private Views did not tally with her public Profeſſions and Declarations.—If there is nothing to be feared from the Turks, where is the Neceſſity for ſtooping to a Vindication or Apology.

Hague, June 19. O. S. It is not aſtoniſhing, ſays a Letter from a foreign Miniſter who reſides at Conſtantinople, that the Baſhaw of Rhodes, who might glory in having attempted an Enterprize, which, had it ſucceeded, would have been very advantageous to the Ottoman Porte, abſolutely denies to have had directly, or indirectly, any Hand in ſuch Attempt. In ſhort, ſeeing that Affairs did not ſucceed as he expected, he perceives that he ſhould be hated and deteſted, even by the Government itſelf, ſhould he confeſs that he had, and that moreover, he ſhould paſs for a Man capable of the blackeſt Attempts; but the ſame Letter intimates, that the Ottoman Court knows better, than to give into theſe Declarations, made by the Baſhaw; and if they applied to the Court of France, to endeavour to obtain the Liberty of this Baſhaw, it was not for Love of him, but the Divan thought it would be an Infamy, which would fall upon the Porte itſelf, in Caſe one of the principal Officers of the Empire, had been publicly executed for a Crime, which, in the Eyes, even of the moſt barbarous Nations, would have appeared deteſtable.

Vienna, June 30. Letters from Conſtantinople bring Advice, that the Tartars in the Crimea have made a freſh Incurſion into the Ruſſian Territories; but a large Body of Coſſacks being aſſembled, came up with and repulſed them with Loſs. Her Ruſſian Imperial Majeſty has ſent orders to her Miniſter at the Ottoman Porte, to demand Satisfaction for theſe repeated Inſults.

They write from Copenhagen, that the Squadron which lately ſailed from thence was double mann'd, and had Soldiers on board, with large Quantities of Proviſions and Ammunitions; and 'tis aſſured they are gone to make ſome new Diſcoveries in the North.

Madrid, June 18. O. S. Mr. Keene, his Britannic Majeſty's Miniſter at this Court, has had ſeveral Conferences, within theſe few Days, with the Count de Carvajal, and has ſent the ſeveral Reſults thereof to the Court at London, by a ſpecial Courier, whom he diſpatched for that Purpoſe.

Genoa, June 22. Our Letters from Madrid adviſe, that the Miniſters of that Court fix their greateſt Attention on the Affairs of America, and that they expect with a great deal of Impatience a Ship from thence to know the State of Affairs of that Country; they are making Preparations to ſend thither a Squadron well armed; and they alſo write, that the Negotiation of Mr. Keene, the Britiſh Miniſter, meets with Difficulties.

June 22. O. S. The Maſter of a French Ship juſt arriv'd here from Smyrna reports, that a large Corſair of Tripoli had taken a Malteſe Veſſel off Rhodes, after a long and bloody Engagement: The Malteſe were boarded five times, and as often clear'd their Deck, but at the ſixth Onſet were overpowered, and 80 of them, being all that ſurvived the Fight, were made Slaves.

Algiers, July 6. As ſuch a Prize is a very uncommon Sight here, the whole City flocked down to ſee one of our Chebecks come in with a Malteſe Ship in Tow. The Dey has preſented the Captain of the Chebeck with a thouſand Piaſtres and a Slave, and has diſtributed Rewards among the common Seamen according to their Alacrity in boarding the Enemy, particularly he who firſt boarded her had 200 Chequins and a Slave; and in order to animate our Corſairs to ſuch glorious Captures, the Divan have decreed to give the like Recompence to all who for the future ſhall overcome and bring in any armed Veſſel.

A ſmall Spaniſh Saick, with ſome Money on board, has been brought in here; and one of our Cruizers has carried into Tripoli a Venetian Felucca, which he immediately ſold for 1200 Sequins.

If the Neapolitan Commander who broke the Neutrality of Ports ſhould fall into the Hands of any of the Powers of Barbary, he is likely to meet with rough Uſage.

Madrid, July 23. The Neceſſity of ſtocking our Poſſeſſions in the Weſt Indies with a great Addition of European Coloniſts, eſpecially Handicraftſmen and Labourers, having been laid before his Majeſty, and that beſides the Advantage to the Public, Order and Subjection would be the better ſecured, the nearer the Number of Europeans came to that of the Natives, and that theſe Meaſures ſhould perfectably take place in thoſe Towns and Diſtricts who had manifeſted any Diſpoſitions to ſhake off the Yoke, and ſet up for themſelves, as their Word is; theſe Repreſentations having been approved by the Council, it has been reſolved to make the moſt encouraging Offers of Privileges, Immunities and pecuniary Aſſiſtance, to any Italian Families who will enter themſelves to ſettle in the King's American Dominions, and there follow the ſame Trades and Occupations by which they maintained themſelves at home.

Leghorn, Aug. 8. Several Ships have been freighted here in order to go to the Levant and load with Corn; this is a happy Precaution to the Merchants and the Public, for by the Scantineſs of the Harveſt in Lombardy and Naples, that Commodity, ſo abſolutely neceſſary, is riſing to a Price which ſeems to threaten a very calamitous Dearth.

The Expreſs which was ſent to Vienna on the Giglio Inſult is returned; but the Anſwer he has brought is not yet known; however that Indiſcretion has already created ſome ill Blood betwixt us and the Neapolitans, who one and all glory in it as a gallant Action not to be frighten'd by a Fort which pretends to ſhelter Infidels.

Genoa, July 31. A Veſſel from Naples brings the agreeable News, that one of the Cruizers had taken Sabre in hand a large Tuneſine Chebeck, which it had carried into Otranta; two Portugueſe Men of War had much eaſier Work with an Algerine; and a Salleteen is fallen into the Spaniards Hands.

Paris, July 1. O. S. We have the Satisfaction to hear, that 13 Ships, richly laden, are arriv'd from our American Colonies at Bourdeaux.

Hamburg, July 5. O. S. We hear that his Pruſſian Majeſty intends to viſit Sileſia this Summer, in order to review the Troops quarter'd in that Province. According to an authentic Liſt of the Forces of that Prince, they amount to 147,030 effective Men, and the annual Maintenance of them to about 8,000,000 of Rixdollars.

LONDON.

May 25. The Billet which Mr. Paul sent to Mr. Dalton was, as near as can be remembred, in the following Words;

Sir,

We have long been intimate Friends, but your Behaviour in this Affair cannot be passed over. The least Degree of Satisfaction that any Gentleman could expect, is all that is required, by Yours, &c.

P. S. I am sorry I am obliged to send for you here, as it may be thought wrong.

On Saturday Evening the Coroner having summon'd a Jury, they sat on the Body of Mr. Dalton, but his Servant being gone into the Country, to carry the afflicting News to his Master's Relations, obliged them to adjourn to Yesterday Afternoon; when, after hearing the Evidence properly examined, they brought in their Verdict, Wilful Murder.

June 5. A few Days since was conducted to his untimely Grave, the Remains of ——— Dalton, Esq; a young Gentleman educated to the Law; but being entitled to a considerable Fortune after his Father's Death, he soon quitted that Profession, and dedicated himself to Studies more fitting to improve and adorn a Mind and Genius like his. From his Infancy he was guided by the Dictates of Virtue, Honour, Humanity, and Politeness; from whence he became singularly remarkable for his Religion to his Maker, Duty and Obedience to his Parents, Zeal and Sincerity in his Friendships, and Justice, Compassion and good Breeding to all Mankind. These uncommon good Qualities, in an Age so very degenerate, gained him the Esteem and Opinion of a young Lady of very great Fortune and singular Merit, who soon distinguished his Virtues, and with her they would soon have met with the greatest Kind of Reward this World is capable of giving, had he not fallen a melancholy Sacrifice to the barbarous Fashions of the present Times, and to the Effects of a warm Temper, the only Thing like a Crime that ever could be laid to his Charge. A fatal Misconstruction of innocent and trifling Circumstances made a Breach between him and one of his most intimate Friends; and Youth and unguarded Passion, in a very few Hours, hurried them to a Duel, which deprived Mr. Dalton of his Life, and his Antagonist of what is much more valuable, Tranquility of Mind. By this sudden Accident the one, when just elated with the Expectations of every Nuptial Felicity, was laid in his cold Grave; the other, for the Sake of flying from public Justice, is perhaps forever destined to be a Wanderer from his Friends, Relations, and Native Country, loaded with the Reflections of having destroyed a Friend whose Virtues he ever adored and imitated. The Life of this excellent young Man was an Example to many; let this Satisfaction attend him to his Grave, that his Death is so likewise. Let it teach to all what Hopes are defeated, and what Miseries are created, by these illegal and impious Proceedings: But let such (for many such there are) who, from the Notion of Honour, established by long Usage, and from their Station in Life, think that Injuries or Affronts must some Times be resented by Methods like these, let such be taught to make those Methods as justifiable as possible, by deferring them, at least, till Time, Reason, Temper, or Reflection, have given to both Parties an Opportunity of explaining or acknowleging the Effects of Passion, Misunderstanding, or Thoughtlessness. Had any Thing like this prevailed in the present melancholy Case, Mr. Dalton had now lived a Blessing to his Friends, and most likely hereafter would have been an Ornament to his Country.

July 31. Sir John Strange, and General Bland, are appointed by his Majesty, to enquire into the Demands of the Inhabitants of Minorca upon General Anstruther, their late Governor, against whom there was a very heavy Charge preferred the last Session of Parliament.

Mr. Keppel, Commander of the British Squadron in the Mediterranean, has at length settled all the Difference between his Court and the Dey of Algiers, by waving the Restitution of the Money and Effects taken out of the Prince Frederick Packet-Boat, on Condition, that his Majesty's Packet-Boats shall never be obliged to carry Algerine Passports, but on producing their Commissions, shall be at full Liberty to pursue their Voyage; and that the British Merchants shall enjoy the Privilege of Trading to all the Ports and Places belonging to the Kingdom of Algiers, with fair and legal Passports; with which they are allowed a proper Time to furnish themselves.

Mr. William Curtis, Commander of the Good-Will Merchant Ship, now in the River, who left Cape Francois June 4, were he had been eight Months, in that Time saw 1500 English Sailors in the French Service on board their Merchant Ships; and says that he took an Account of 480 Sail that went out of that Port for France, all richly laden.

August 3. Capt. M'Kenzie, of the Prince George, from Carolina, arrived at Cowes, took up the Master and Crew of the Diamond, Capt. Caldwell, of Londonderry, from Philadelphia, for Antigua, who was the 27th of June overset, 120 Leagues East of the Capes of Virginia.

August 9. According to some Accounts from Madrid, the Spanish Navy, including Ships on the Stocks, consists of about 50 Sail of Men of War, viz. 6 of 90, 11 of 80, 8 of 70, 10 of 60, and 15 Ships from 50 to 20 Guns; besides Xebequs, Galleys, and other light Vessels.

August 10. By a Letter from the Cape of Good Hope, dated the 10th of April last, to a Gentleman in this Town, there is Advice, that at that Time there were at the Cape, two French outward bound India Ships, full of Officers, and Soldiers, and that eleven others, provided in the like Manner, had gone before, which they pretend was only to repair the Loss they had sustained; but it alarmed our People with strange Apprehensions.

Extract of a Letter from Capt. Wood at South Carolina to his Friend in London.

'We left Cadiz the 30th of January, and next Day had a hard Gale of Wind westerly, which drove me into Gibraltar; which I left the 3d of February, and had a fine Passage until I got within 150 Leagues of this Place; where on the 10th of March, about Midnight, I met with a dismal Crack, together with a Shower of Fire, which broke over us, as if the whole Dissolution of the World was come. It kill'd me three Men, and several others much hurt; it split my Top gallant Mast to Pieces, shattered my Main mast in such a Manner that I am obliged to get a new one. It split my Pumps, burst one of them betwee Decks, tore up three of my lower Deck Planks, and burst through my main Wale, about two Foot above Water, and filled the Ship full of a Sulphurous Smoke. The Crack was of no longer Continuance than the Snap of breaking a Pipe.'

NEW-YORK, September 23.

By Capt. Daniel Seymour, who arrived here last Week from Coracoa, we have Advice, that the Spanish Privateers and Guarda Costas, are very busy about that Coast, taking all the Vessels they can, without respect of Persons; that one of the Coracoa Sloops coming up from Aruba, was taken by one of them, and carried off; whereupon the Commander at Coracoa caus'd two Spanish Schooners and two Sloops, which came in there, to be seiz'd as Reprizals, on board of which were Effects and Money to the Value of 40,000 Pieces of Eight; and Proclamations were sent off just before Capt. Seymour left Coracoa, ordering four stout Vessels to be immediately fitted out, with full Orders to cruize against the Spaniards, and to take or destroy all they meet with.

We further hear, that Capt. Ramadge, in a Sloop of this Port, bound to Coracoa, is taken by one of those Spaniards, and carried into the Margarittes, with several other Vessels whose Names we have no Account of.
